

CHURCH DEDICATED
BY PRESBYTERIANS

Northminster Entertains Two Congregations and Hears Addresses by Several Clergymen.

Amid a large gathering, comprising clergymen of many different denominations and the congregation of two churches, the Northminster Presbyterian Church was dedicated with impressive ceremonies yesterday.

After a dedication recital by the church organist, Louis A. Potter, the visiting clergymen, led by the pastor, the Rev. George P. Wilson, took seats on the platform.

The chairman of the committee, L. C. Williamson, then presented the keys of the church to the president of the board of trustees, W. C. Countryman.

The Rev. Frederick D. Power, pastor of the Vermont Avenue Christian Church, delivered a sermon, using "The Theme of Harmony" as his subject.

"Occasions like this," he said, "make me glad, since they exhibit the true feeling of friendship between the churches. May we be co-workers in the cause of Christ's church."

The Rev. Charles Butler, Dr. Thompson, Dr. Allison, and Dr. Guthrie delivered addresses.

BURGLAR'S DOG
BLOCKS PURSUERS

Holds Them at Bay While Master Makes Good His Escape.

NEW YORK, June 11.—A genuine burglar-dog, as well trained in his work as the famous police dogs, appeared in Long Island City.

In a manner plainly showing he had been schooled for the purpose, he savagely held at bay his master's pursuers until the master had gained a block upon them. The man has been as careful and thorough as the dog, he would have got away with a suit case full of loot. But he grew reckless and was caught.

He went to James Dunn's house, at 143 Third street, and asked to be allowed to sit in an upstairs room to watch for a man he was pursuing. He told the servant he was a detective. All the while a bulldog trailed meekly at his heels.

In a few minutes the servant caught the stranger packing a suit of clothing into his grip. He ran out, and the girl cried to Dunn to pursue. Other men started in the chase, too.

"Hold 'em!" the man shouted to the dog. Growling and leaping from one to the other, the big bull brought Dunn and his companions to a sudden stop. A shrill whistle sounded from the next corner. Dropping his attack, the dog raced off. The last the men saw of him he was whirling around the turn on the heels of his master. Both had disappeared when the pursuers got to the corner.

Later Dunn and Detective McGill ran across the stranger sauntering along and overpowered him.

NEW CURRENCY
BEING PRINTED

The beginning of an issue of currency expected to reach $4,000,000 per diem, was run off at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing when the new plates were announced to be ready for the new bank note issue provided for in the Freedman-Aldrich currency bill.

The first plate struck off was for the National Bank of Beaver City, Utah. The denomination is $5 bills.

All of the new currency has been made from old plates remodeled to meet the present demand. The plates of 1882 and 1892 were used for everything except ten and twenty dollar bills. For these a new plate was made.

MOVES HIS FAMILY
IN A WHEELBARROW

Man, Anxious to Quit Williamsport, Spends Six Days on the Road.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 11.—James Pritain, accompanied by his wife and six-year-old child, have arrived here from Williamsport. They carried all their possessions in a wheelbarrow, and were six days on the road.

The man is a tanner. He says work is very slack in Williamsport, and he thought he would come to Wilkesbarre to see if he could secure employment.

YOUNG PERFORMERS
GIVE MUSICAL

The pupils of Miss Nell V. Herring gave an interesting musical last evening at her home, 123 N. street. Among the performers were Miss Susie Whitteley, Miss Mary McCall, Miss Ida Harry, Miss Gertrude Amis, Miss Lillian Taylor, Miss Bessie Haney, Miss Mida Tucker, Eugene Amis, Henry Whitteley, Miss Caroline Scott, Howard Montgomery, Miss Ruth Graf, Miss Dorothy Hoskinson, Miss Dorothy Phillips, Miss Salome Harris, Miss Sara McQueen, Miss Alice McDonald, and Master Howard Montgomery.

APART 37 YEARS,
BROTHERS MEET

SEATTLE, Wash., June 11.—Uniting after not seeing each other for thirty-seven years is the odd experience of John and George Fitzgerald, who have just met again.

Thirty-seven years ago, when John was twenty-eight years old, he left his home in Rochester, Minn. He traveled around the world and lived in many foreign lands. Finally he came to Seattle, where he settled down.

Accidentally he met a man who knew him as a boy, and was informed that his brother was residing in Seattle. The meeting followed, and now the brothers are going back to Devil's Lake, S. D., to spend their declining years with their aged mother.

WHEN THE CALLER WENT.

The caller who "drops in for half a minute" had exceeded the time limit by about four hours, and there was no prospect of relief, when the small boy of the house came in for the third time during the afternoon and stopped in amazement at seeing the visitor.

"Ain't you gone yet?" he asked, "bout time for you to be gone."

"Hush, Freddie," cried his mother in distress. "You mustn't mind what he says. Mrs. Jones. Children don't seem to know any better than to butt the truth right out sometimes, do they?"

Whereupon the caller departed.—Exchange.

TAKAHIRA RECEIVES
PRINCETON DEGREE

PRINCETON, N. J., June 11.—Baron Kogoro Takahira, the Japanese Ambassador, was made doctor of laws by Princeton University, at the 161st commencement exercises today.

The degree also was conferred upon Prof. H. A. Garfield, of Princeton, the president elect of Williams College, and upon Mahlon Pitney, chancellor of New Jersey.

In accepting the degree, Ambassador Takahira spoke of the "open door" in the far East. He referred to it as the child of John Hay, who was honored previously by the university, and said that, because of his close relations with the late Secretary of State, he could not help but feel that he was one of the guardians of the "open door."

He declared that the recent convention signed by himself and Secretary Root for the mutual protection of American and Japanese trade-marks and copyrights in China and Korea, was an evidence of the "open door" policy to be pursued.

THE MISTAKE.

One summer evening a miller was leaning over his garden gate, facing the road, enjoying his pipe, when a young farmer happened to be passing. The miller, in a friendly tone, said, "Good evening, George."

"I didn't speak," said George, gruffly.

"Oh, said the miller, 'I thought you did, but it must have been your ears napping.'—Tid Bits.

CONFEDERATE VETS
SELECT MEMPHIS

Gen. Clement A. Evans Is Elected Commander-in-Chief to Succeed S. D. Lee.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 11.—The next reunion of the United Confederate Veterans will be held in Memphis under the leadership of Gen. Clement A. Evans, who was elected commander-in-chief last night to succeed Gen. Stephen D. Lee, who died a few days before the reunion opened.

General Evans is a native of Georgia. He was a Senator when the civil war began, and although exempt from military service, he joined a company in his county in January, 1861. He rose rapidly through several grades and participated in all the battles fought on the soil of Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania. In command of his division at Appomattox he made the last fight of the war, after the surrender, because he had not received word of peace.

The selection of a city for the next reunion aroused great rivalry between Memphis and Atlanta. The matter was practically decided when Virginia threw its vote to Memphis.
